

ABSTRACT

[0061] A license management unit is described which provides for a web based access to digital records for software licenses. The digital records can indicate rights associated with the software license. A transaction history can be maintained including adjustments of the rights associated with the software license.